

Please do not weaken the no call list. I would find it extremely objectionable to have to put with calls from Credit Card, Phone, and home improvement companies that I had experienced before the list. Who knows how many more have since joined the parade. We sent local politicians scurrying for cover when they tried to weaken the list. I don't reckon that we could do that with the FCC, but we would surely try.